Solo & Ensemble helpful tips

Arrive to the school to give yourself plenty of time to find your warm up room, and to warm up properly.

Make sure that your accompanists and your ensemble members know where to meet you, and what time.

Make sure you are dressed professionally, yet comfortable enough so that you are able to perform your best.

Brass players do not stand face on with the adjudicator while you are performing. Always quarter off during performances.

Do not make excuses, and learn how to take a compliment. Do not “point out” mistakes you made. Remember, there is no such thing as a “perfect performance”.

Keep your emotions out of the performance room always.

Avoid drinking milk or eating dairy products prior to performances for all woodwind and brass players.

Woodwinds, ALWAYS have a back up reed you have played on already with you at ALL TIMES.

Brass players, do not clean out your instrument the night before the performance. This changes the air resistance of your horn.

Brass players, have valve oil with you in the room.

Bring bottled water if you get dry mouth.

Thank the judge for listening to you after the performance.

Have fun! This is your time to show off!

Good luck!
